Center for Child and Family Development

FY 2021 IMPACT REPORT

The Winston Prouty Center for Child and Family Development provides inclusive education and family support to promote the success of children and families.

Dear Friends,

When young children start to learn new skills, they have to make multiple efforts, process new information, learn from disappointing results, work with others and at times, ask for help.

Like our young friends, we had a lot of learning to do in FY2021: adapting to new communication technologies while delivering services for families and children via telehealth; being creative with curriculum and outdoor classrooms in all weather; working together to implement health advisories from the Department of Health and CDC; making extra efforts to gather resources for families seeking permanent housing; listening to families to learn how we could best assist them.

As an organization we were quick to access outside help, including Coronavirus Relief Funds and PPP loans to assure our staff and services would be available in our community. We worked with a dynamic group of volunteers to continue our campus planning and development project, which will ensure Prouty's future financial stability, and joined in advocacy efforts that brought needed resources to Vermont's early childhood systems.

Although we know it will be some time before COVID-19 is no longer a concern we have to consider every day, the Prouty community has weathered this unusual year with grace, patience, and resilience. We are proud of how we are doing and want to share our progress with our friends. Thank you for the many ways you support our work.
